Friday, February 6. 1741.

Ralph Freeman, Esq;

R,

I AM to thank you in the Name of myself and several others for your Letters of the 14th and 16th instant, in which you very justly and handsomely ridicule and expose the weak Reasonings and low Deceits of those Anti-constitutional Empiricks, Common Sense and the Craftsman, mean sophistical Objections to the Author of a o a Member of Parliament: And 'tis with Con-pleasing enough) we see those poor Creatures the Thistle they cannot digest, and the Uneasi-Heart with which they torment themselves and eaders in vain. I acknowledge myself at a Loss w, whether, in this their unhappy Circumstance, erit more our Contempt or our Pity, or whether es most Scorn or Derision from the Publick. For , I confess myself induced, by the Labours of istorted Brains, to some Charity towards them, y seldom make use of that Virtue; and do there-vise their Leaders to muzzle the Asses before they to their favourite Project of opening the Lion's lest their Braying should spoil the intended Sport. fain know what it is these People would be at. nentable to see how some Men will give way to assions, so as to endeavour in their Rage to re-oundations, which with all their Wisdom and they may never be able to set right again: For Passionate as He is for Power and the Place-I would fain ask the Gentleman who so zealously nt affects to be at the Head of it, if He hath ly considered the Consequences of it? Whe-it be carry'd into execution, it will effectually those Purposes for which it is calculated; or he thinks there may not come a Time, when or must, be of another Opinion, and be reduced ollicit the Repeal, at the Hazard of his Sense or y.

ll know that this very Gentleman hath a very tible Opinion of our Intellects, and hath ven declare more than once, that we Soldiers are not ; but I would have him to know, that we have enough in general to understand the Nation's reft as well as our own, and have good Sense o pursue them upon right Principles; and that Cases we can see as far into false Politicks as his and have Prudence enough not to quarrel od Beans, altho' each Man's Mess in proportion like well butter'd. In short, tho' we are no lessed with the modern Frenzy of Reformation minant in some vain, busy Men among us, who be Patriots, we have Reading and Discern-ough to distinguish between a Cicero and a *Ca-*nd see clearly the Folly of a rash and mistaken n, in the Characters of a Phaeton and a Milo.

I am, SIR, Your's, &c.

Yesterday arriv'd two Mails from Flanders.

Vienna, Jan. 25. N.S.

hear from Silesia, that the Prussian Soldiers are very much dissatisfy'd at the severe Exercises put to in this bad Season, that many have their benumb'd with the Cold that they can't stir, the Precaution used to make them shift their after the great Rains was of no Effect, because ones were wet before the others were dry. The ay farther, that the King of Prussia invited him-Dinner with the Cardinal de Sintzendorf, and 'd to turn him out of his Bishoprick if he refused ve him, so that he was admitted. The Magi-Breslau have been displaced for refusing to own overeign of Silesia, and he has substituted a Set own Creation, which is very much reflected on Ministers at Ratisbon. The King of Poland is 20000 Men into Silesia, where 'tis reckon'd Queen's own Forces will soon consist of 35000 'Tis said the Election of an Emperor will be de-ll the first of May.

During the Siege of Neuss the Garison made a the Besiegers, and killed 1400 of their Men, among whom are reckon'd a General, some Colonels, and several other Officers of Note, particularly the Son of General Schwerin. After this Action the Prussians threw some more Bombs into the Town, but next Day, to the most agreeable Surprize of the Inhabitants, they rais'd the Siege early in the Morning, upon which Occasion there was sung a Te Deum. We hear that the Prussian Soldiers desert in Parties at a time, and that the King of Prussia was so terrify'd by the Whiz of a Cannon Ball by his Ear, that he tumbled off his Horse, and thereupon set out soon after for Berlin.

Stockholm, Jan. 10. The Speech made by Count Gyllemberg to the States General in the Name of the King at the Opening of the Dyet is now printed, and in Substance as follows:

"That the King considering how long the last Dyet sat beyond their usual Time, the Request which was then made by the States not to call a new one so soon, and reflecting on the publick Calamities of this Year owing to the Irregularities of the Seasons, would gladly have deny'd himself the Pleasure he always takes in seeing his loyal Subjects the States of the Kingdom assembled at the Foot of his Throne; but that the present Situation of Affairs and several Changes that have happen'd since the last Dyet require proper Measures to be taken without Delay, which his Majesty thinks cannot be taken but by the Advice of the States of the Kingdom, which he always did and ever shall think it a Pleasure to follow. That moreover his Majesty seems to foresee, that the Storm whose Rage some Kingdoms have already felt will soon become general, and spread over the greatest Part of Europe, especially since the Demise of the two chief crown'd Heads in Christendom; that indeed his Majesty hopes that the Tranquility of these northern Countries will not thereby be disturb'd; but that 'tis nevertheless good Policy to study whatever may be the Consequence of the present Crisis, and at least to endeavour to ward off such as may prove dangerous, in order for preserving the ancient Glory of the Crown of Sweden. That these are in general the Motives that have determin'd his Majesty to call this Dyet, but in due time the States shall know them more particularly. That in the mean while his Majesty is glad of their happy Arrival in this Capital, and imagines their Stay here wont be long, because the Affairs for which they are call'd together may be dispatch'd in a very little time, and that as there has not been time enough to pass a solid Judgment what may be the Consequence of the domestick Regulations that were made in the last Dyet, 'tis his Opinion that it will not be necessary to touch upon them in this, unless it be to propose some Measures for facilitating the Execution of what was then agreed on. His Majesty adds, that the Eyes of all Europe are now fixed upon the Dyet of Sweden, and that this Consideration ought to induce the States to proceed in all their Debates with a perfect Union, forasmuch as nothing less than such a Union can procure us the Respect of foreign Nations, and preserve the Credit and Reputation of the Crown of Sweden," &c.

Cologne, Feb. 3. Letters from Weimar say, that on the 23d ult. the Duchess of Saxe Weymar was delivered of a Prince, who was baptised that Day by the Names of Ernest Adolphus Felix.

Hamburgh, Jan. 30. N.S. Just now we hear that the Town of Harbourg is laid under Water by the Breach of a Dyke, so that the Inhabitants were forced to fire the Cannon from the Ramparts in token of their Distress, whereupon some Boats were sent off to their Relief. The King of Poland, at the Request of the Queen of Hungary, has acquainted all the Electors, that he acknowledges the Association of the Great Duke of Tuscany in her Government, and his Right of voting at the approaching Election of an Emperor.

Olmutz in Silesia, Jan. 11. The President and Members of the Ober-Ampt, or Council of Regency of this Duchy establish'd at Breslau, set out the 4th and 5th instant, by an express Order from the King of Prussia, who allow'd them but 24 Hours to depart, and deny'd the Petition of the Magistrates of Breslau, who begg'd his Majesty to permit the President at least to stay in that City.

Dresden, Jan. 23. The Queen of Poland arriv'd here two Days ago from Warsaw. 'Tis said the Troops to be sent to the Queen of Hungary are to consist of 13000 Men, and to be commanded by General Baudisch. They write from Petersbourg, that the King of Prussia sent an Officer to the Princess Regent, to solicit a Supply of 6000 Cossacks, but that it was refus'd.

Ratisbon, Jan. 19. The Queen of Hungary's Ministers here have receiv'd Advice from Vienna, that after the Garison of Olmachow in Silesia, consisting of 300 Men, had surrender'd, the Town was plunder'd by the Prussians; and that the Towns of Ohlau and Namslau, whose Garisons consisting of 400 Men each were made Prisoners of War, had suffer'd the same Fate. They add, that in the Castle of Ohlau there were the Effects and Moveables of great Value belonging to the late Prince James Sobieski, which were detain'd there till the End of a Lawsuit betwixt his Heirs; and that a Cannon Ball from the Town of Neuss took off the Head of a Grenadier not far from his Prussian Majesty.

LONDON, February 6.

"There are now raising here 500 Negroes and Mulattoes for the present Expedition, who are to be enter'd on board the several Men of War, and are to receive ordinary Sailors Pay, Provisions and Booty. They will be extremely useful in case of a Siege, as they are able to endure the Heat of the Sun all the Day, without the last Uneasiness or Danger. Lord Cathcart brings over Arms for them; and 'tis hop'd they will be all on board in two or three Days, as their Number is very near completed. His Grace the Duke of Newcastle, by Order of the Lords Justices, wrote a Month ago to his Excellency the Governor for this purpose, proposing that they should be divided into five Companies, and be on the Footing of English Marines; but this Day we receiv'd a second Letter from his Excellency, which was read in our Vestry, setting forth the Alteration abovementioned, by Proposal of the Admiral, as a farther Encouragement to the free Negroes to enlist themselves, and the Owners of Negroe Slaves to send them out on this Expedition. The Usefulness and Advantage of that excellent Treaty, made by the Governor with the late rebellious Negroes, will now be manifest; for it is not doubted, but as by an Article therein they are to be aiding and assisting on all Emergencies, they will readily make up any Deficiency that may happen in the aforesaid Number. The Governor has been so kind as to permit 25 Men out of each of the eight Independent Companies to embark with the Fleet, where doubtless they will be of great Service. It would surprize one to think, that when so much Diligence and Application is used by those who most justly are entrusted with the Care and Conduct of our publick Affairs, for the Honour, Interest and Happiness of the King and Country, that a Set of traiterous Villains among us should be pulling down almost as fast as they can build, by giving the most early Intelligence to our Enemies of every Step we intend to take, and sending them Naval Stores, Arms, and Ammunition, for the Defeat and Destruction of their Fellow-subjects and Countrymen; and yet so it is, beyond all Contradiction. The following Relation will make this evident."

"One Goodett, who lately belong'd to this Island, has, ever since the Beginning of the War, been employ'd as a Master of a Vessel, in carrying Naval Stores and Provisions, first from hence, and afterwards from Curasao, to Don Blas at Carthagena. He had but left that Port two Days before our Squadron came there to bombard it, and being met at Sea by the Admiral, was ordered to bring to, and examined. He pretended he had been only at Porto Bello with some small Traffick; and as he had nothing on Board to render him suspected, the Admiral dismiss'd him. Some Time

Time after this, the South Sea Factors coming over here from Carthagena, gave the Admiral a full Account of this Gentleman's having not only been concerned in trading there with Stores and Ammunition from this Island; but that he had under his Hand assured Don Blas that the Admiral intended to bombard Carthagena, and was so lucky as to guess within a Day or two when the Squadron would be there. He had constantly given an Account of every Thing intended, as far as he knew, and by so doing was always greatly encourag'd whenever he came into that Harbour. He had of late (in hopes of being more secure) traded there from Curasao under Dutch Colours, and with two Vessels; both of which were taken off Carthagena, laden with all Manner of Cordage and other Naval Stores, by one Nevil, a Privateer belonging to this Place, and brought in here about three Weeks ago, together with a Spanish Sloop of considerable Value. The Admiral order'd him to be confin'd in Irons on Board the Burford as soon as he heard of him; and in order to save his Life, he has impeach'd two or three of our substantial Merchants, who, he declares, have all along freighted his Vessels, and sent him out in this villainous Trade, by which they have greatly enrich'd themselves. They are now in Custody; and 'tis earnestly wish'd by all honest Men that they and the rest may meet their deserved Fate. The French General at Leogan sent a Sloop down lately to the Admiral, with Two or Three Sheets full of Complaints against our Men of War for searching and stopping their Vessels at Sea, and threaten'd strangely that he must acquaint the King his Master and the Cardinal with it. The Admiral has return'd him an Answer by the Norwich, with a good many Compliments upon the Cardinal; but then tells him, that he, in his Turn, must also acquaint the Cardinal, that he has great Complaints against him (the General) for what he little suspected had come to his Knowledge, viz. for that he had all along been assisting Don Blas at Carthagena with Naval Stores and Ammunition, in direct Breach of the present Neutrality. 'Tis to be hoped this will silence the General's Complaints, especially as from several Circumstances it appears, that this Sloop is sent down merely as a Spy for the Information of the Spaniards; of which this is not the least, that Don Blas's Pilot is discover'd to be in her, who was intended to have sounded this Harbour, as he now confesses. Besides Capt. Allen, who was made out of the Commodore into the Terrible Bomb, in the room of Capt. Waring, who resign'd, we have four Lieutenants made Captains out of the Burford since our Arrival here, viz. Capt. Percival into the Astrea Prize, taken at Porto Bello; Capt. Coleby into the Eleanor, in the room of Sir Robert Henly, deceas'd; Capt. Hore into the Success, in the room of Capt. Peers, gone Home for his Health; and Capt. Broderick into the Cumberland, in the room of Capt. Maynard, preferred to the Sheerness, in the room of Capt. Stapleton, preferred to the Louisa, in the room of Capt. Waterhouse, who has resign'd. There have been about 17 Lieutenants made, and several Surgeons, Masters, Gunners, and Boatswains. The Squadron is at present exceeding healthy."

Yesterday died at his House in Sackville-street, Charles Stewart, Esq; Vice-Admiral of the White, appointed to that high Station in the Year 1735. He was an experienc'd Commander in the Navy, and always distinguished himself upon all Occasions with great Courage and Bravery.

By Letters from Cambridge, dated the 4th instant, we have an Account, that last Week a Fire broke out in a Stack of Haum belonging to Edward Breechinoe of Elsworth, about Six Miles from that Place, which in a short Space burnt down the Dwelling-houses and all the Out-houses belonging to that and two other Farms.

It burnt with such Violence, that altho' it was at Noon day the poor Families could scarce have Time to save their Wearing Apparel. It is suggested it was set on Fire by a Villain belonging to the same Parish. And,

Last Week the Rev. Mr. Bliss, a Northamptonshire Clergyman, came to demand Admittance to the Mastership of Magdalen-College, Cambridge, upon the Presentation of one Noble Lord; but as Mr. Abbot was admitted and sworn before, upon the Presentation of another Noble Lord, he was dismissed with Compliments only. Upon which 'tis thought a Suit will be commenced between the two Noble Lords, or else the two Reverend Divines.

The only short and infallible Cure

For that reigning Disease the SCURVY, and all Scorbutick Humours, tho' arrived to the highest and most inveterate Degree, ever so many Years standing, and that without any Confinement or the least Purging, which by an unaccountable Error is generally advised, although always found rather to increase than confirm the Scurvy than cure it.

By the so much famed and most pleasant Chymical Drops,

WHICH, without the least Trouble or Confinement, or any Disorder whatever, do not only at the true Cause of the Scurvy, and intirely destroy the Scorbutick Humours and Effects, Root and Branch, so as never return again, as many Thousands of both Sexes have experienced; and as all who take them in 3 Days time will be convinced they almost instantly alter the morbid State of the Juices of the Blood, sweeten all the Fluids, cleanse them from Impurities, directly clear the whole Habit from all Spots, Blotches, Pimples, blue Marks, Itchings, foul Eruptions, or Breakings out of the Limbs, languid Heaviness of the whole Body, Pains, Weakness of the Back, and all the vast Variety of Symptoms by which the Scurvy imitates and often lies concealed under the Appearance of the Rheumatism, and many other Diseases.

And for strengthening the Stomach, immediately creating Appetite, causing a regular and easy Digestion of Food, curing all windy Effects and Disorders of the first Passages (which exceed Head-achs, Vapours and other Indispositions) no Medicine other Medicine upon Earth can compare with them, as that besides infallibly curing the Scurvy in all its Appearances, they also assuredly and immediately cure the Gripes in Virgins, Worms of all Kinds in young or old, and other Chronick Diseases, (which are chiefly occasioned by Wind and flatulent Crudities in the Stomach and Bowels) and prevent Fevers, Agues, and other acute Illnesses.

They are wonderfully Cordial and Restorative, thereby enliven the whole Machine, and as soon as taken, make it pleasantly Lightsom, Brisk and Vigorous to admiration; good for all Sorts of Persons, to preserve as well as restore found and healthy State of Body.

But the great Reputation these famous fam'd and [illegible] mical Drops have so universally gain'd among Persons for their suddenly and infallibly curing the Scurvy and tick Humours, and other Chronick Diseases, in such agreeable Manner, have occasioned many to imitate under the same, and others under other Names: Be therefore not to be deceiv'd; but be sure to have the Right the Author's special Appointment, are to be had only at Newoman's, at the Two Blue Posts, in Haydon-Yard, norics, at 3 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with Directions.

Yeſterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Relation of the Letter from the Letter from the Queen of Hungary to her Miniſters at the Dyet of Ratisbon, from the King of Pruſſia's Invaſion of Sileſia.

THE Military Preparations that were making by the Court of Pruſſia, and the Motions they were giving to their Troops, were much talk'd of for ſome Time, and we were adver-tiſed from more Places than one, that they tended to an Invaſion of our Hereditary Duchy of Sileſia; but we could nor were we willing to believe, that his Pruſſian y could be prevail'd on by evil Counſels, to take ſo contrary to Juſtice, and of which it would be lt to find a Parallel in Hiſtory, putting all the mſtances of it, which are for moſt part Publick, er. Your Knowledge of Affairs renders it need- us to declare to you what was expreſsly regu- n the chief fundamental Conſtitution of the Em- viz. in the firſt Chapter of the Golden Bull, for laintenance of its Tranquillity during an Inter- m, as well as for the Security of the Dominions ing to an Elector: Nor need you to be told of rder againſt the Diſturbers of the Publick Peace, inſt the leaſt Infringements of the ſolemn Act for Purpoſe, or of the other Laws of the Empire; n fine, of what is enjoin'd by the Laws of Nature ations, and of what has been hitherto held ſacred il Society.

this, and by conſequence not only the entire Con- n of the Empire, but alſo the Bands which ought te human Society, and without which it cannot is ſhaken to the very Foundation, or rather ſub- and annihilated by the aforeſaid violent Enter- of the King of Pruſſia. Tho' this ſingle Conſide- is ſufficient to make every one ſenſible of the Dan- th which he is threaten'd in his turn, if a Pro- g of this Nature be not ſtopp'd as it deſerves, yet t poſſible to paſs over a great Number of aggra- Circumſtances which attend this Affair in Sile nce. thing has been neglected on our part, or on that Duke our Spouſe, to give the King of Pruſſia of our diſtinguiſh'd Regard, and to ſecure us of iendſhip by all the Means compatible with Honour quity. All the Advances poſſible have been made ans of the reciprocal Obligations which Nature ibes to cement Alliances which ought to ſubſiſt be- neighbouring Princes. The Marquis de Botta ent to the Court of Berlin preferably to other Mi- , becauſe there was Reaſon to believe that his Per- as agreeable to the King. The Subſtance of his ctions was to offer Friendſhip for Friendſhip, and e attaining to this View he was authoriſed in par- r to enter into all Engagements which ſhould not ntrary either to the Pragmatick Sanction, guaran- by the whole Empire, and particularly by the Houſe andenbourg, or to the Rights of a third Perſon.

e have even done more; for when we were in- 'd that under pretence of Succours which were to be upon us whether we would receive them or not, which at that time we ſtood in no manner of need here was a Deſign to form certain Pretenſions to a of our Dominions, we permitted the Marquis de to declare, that if contrary to our Expectation we eed ſooner or later of the King of Pruſſia's Aſſiſt- we ſhould not be averſe to give reaſonable Secu- , but with this expreſs Proteſtation, that we by no s imagined that under the ſpecious Pretext of aim- t the Security of the Publick Tranquility, a mortal would be intended at Us or the Duke our Husband, e actual Violation of our Repoſe, that of our Archi- Family, and the Peace of Chriſtendom, and by in- g the Chief of the Kingdoms and States that are to us by Inheritance. A more hearty Explanation this was not poſſible, and if we have any thing at all proach ourſelves with, it can only be for having dealt the King of Pruſſia too ſincerely. That Prince was is part quite laviſh in obliging Proteſtations and Pro- s; he did not delay a Moment to recognize us as Heir to our moſt dear Father his late Imperial Ma- ; his Complaiſance and Aſſurances to Us, and the ndſhip and Zeal which he alſo declar'd for the Per- and Intereſts of the Duke our Husband, knew no nds.

Peterſbourg, Jan. 14. O. S. At the Deſire of the Court a Funeral Sermon was preach'd upon the Death of the late Czarina, in all the Churches of the Foreign Communions ſettled here, this Day Se'nnight. The Text given out by the Synod was in the Lamentations of Jeremiah, Chap. V. ver. 16, 17. 'The Crown is 'fallen from our Head: Wo unto us that we have 'ſinned. For this our Heart is faint, for theſe Things 'our Eyes are dim.' The Lieutenant-General the Marquis de Botta, who was formerly Ambaſſador at this Court from the late Emperor of Germany, is lately arrived here from Vienna, and has had an Audience of the Princeſs Regent, and a Conference with the Count d'Oſterman, wherein he repreſented, that the Entrance of the Pruſſian Forces into Sileſia, put the Queen of Hungary under a Neceſſity of having the Succours which Ruſſia was engag'd to furniſh for Defence of the Dominions of the Houſe of Auſtria. So many Perſons of Diſtinction make Intereſt for M. Beſtuchef, Miniſter of the Cabinet, who was arreſted upon account of the Duke of Courland, that People begin to think he will have his Liberty. We have Advice by an Expreſs, that Kouli Kan has made himſelf Maſter of the Town of Buchara in Aſia, on the Frontier of this Empire. Mr. Finch, the Britiſh Miniſter Plenipotentiary, only waits for an Expreſs from London, to ſign the Treaty of Defenſive Alliance which is concluded betwixt the Two Courts.

Vienna, Jan. 21. O. S. The Court has received a Confirmation that the Pruſſians, after having bombarded the Town of Neiſs in Sileſia three Days ſucceſſively, were obliged to retire on the 11th at Night, and to leave eight of their Cannon behind them. And the Queen has ſent a Compliment to the Baron de Roth the Aulic Counſellor, on the brave Defence made by the Colonel his Brother, who is Commandant of the Place. The late Emperor's Jewels and Diamonds valued at 1500000 Crowns have been ſhared between the Queen, the Empreſs Second Dowager, and the Archducheſs Mary-Anne.

Stockholm, Jan. 16. O. S. This Day Se'nnight M. d'Aſſebourg, his Swediſh Majeſty's Privy Counſellor in the Landgraviate of Heſſe, being recalled by the King of Pruſſia whoſe Subject he is by Birth, ſet out with his Swediſh Majeſty's Leave for Berlin. This Gentleman was at Paris laſt Year, when there was a Talk of a Treaty by which the King of France was to take a Body of Heſſians into his Service; and a Motion was made in the Dyet, that before he went away he ſhould be obliged to give an exact Account of his Negociation to the Secret Committee; but the King has acquainted the ſaid Committee, that there was no Neceſſity for retarding M. d'Aſſebourg's Departure, and that as to his Negociation with France, his Majeſty would cauſe all the neceſſary Lights to be imparted to the Secret Committee in that Affair. Mr. Burnaby the Engliſh Miniſter here has frequent Conferences with our Miniſtry, on the Plan of a Treaty of Alliance betwixt this Court and that of Great Britain.
